“ If anyone deserves eternal happiness and rest it's Brother Taylor. I know he and Sis. Taylor had control of the Home for years but in the short time that my brother and I were students there, I do believe we aged them more than anyone would've thought possible. I'm so sorry, Sis. Taylor. smile Ever since about, oh, 3 days after I left the Home, I realized just how wonderful the Taylors were. Now I wish I had told them that more. To all the Taylor family, my condolences. I'm so glad to know Bro. Taylor is rejoicing in Heaven now, tho. {{hugs}}

“ I will never forget Bro. Taylor or the impact he had on me. I was a lost and confused 15 yr old. My parents' respect for Gene & Lora Taylor was evident when they suggested I go stay with the Taylors for a while. I remember a new school where I knew no one and climbing onto the bus at day's end & seeing Gene Taylor's warm, beaming smile- which seemed to make everything better. He prayed for all of us at mealtimes and I could tell how sincere he was. I remember him trying to get me on one of the big horses, but I was too scared- so we settled on a cantankerous small Shetland. Although it was smaller, it liked to throw me. I can still remember Bro. Taylor's laugh and him telling me that I had to get back on right then or I never would. After a lot of falls and walking bowlegged and in pain, I finally got the hang of it and I loved riding that ornery little horse in the field behind the house, bareback, with my fingers in it's mane. I will never forget the warm smile, compassion, and patience of Gene Taylor or the influence he had on my life during a very difficult period. I know he is in heaven with my mama and maybe they are sharing a laugh about me falling off that horse again and again because they both had a streak of mischief in them.
