“ I just became aware of Les’ passing.
What a kind, considerate, caring man he was. Les and Jane moved across the street from my mother after my father’s death. Les was the consummate Good Samaritan in every way. No need was too small or too big for Les.
He loved “his Jane”, children, grandchildren and great grandchildren abundantly and his neighbor as himself.
His life demonstrated what it means to be the hands and feet of Jesus.

“ I met Les at worship at my parents’ church, First Presbyterian Church in New Castle, and occasionally had lunch with him after worship. He was a kind and friendly man and I am glad to have had the opportunity to know him. I know he will be greatly missed by my parents and the entire congregation at First Pres. My thoughts and prayers are with his family.

“ My husband Rick, a Mason, became great friends with Les. We enjoyed eating at the Iron Kettle with Les and celebrating his birthday there. He was a very kind man who missed his wife. He was very proud of his family and spoke often of them. I am sure he and Rick found each other again in Heaven and are working up there.
