“ I'll always remember the day you told me a black hard top 1958 Chevy was your favorite car in the entire world seeing you smile talking about it the whole time. I'll never forget when I brought it over to you how excited you got when it exactly the car you loved. Years later when you were telling us about the car you may not have remembered where you got it but the smile you had talking about it and how much you loved that car is something I'll never forget or the time you took us fishing and had to cut my hair out of the fishing pole. I hope your at peace and will see you again one day

“Dad, you've not been gone long but I already miss you more than I can say. You worked hard to provide for your family and you were so talented. I remember watching you in the garage making all sorts of projects with wood. I liked smelling the sawdust and you showing me how to stain and finish your projects.

I remember fishing trips with you. You taught me how to bait my own hook and tried to teach me how to cast a line. You took me along with you one time to Chicago on one of your work trips. I loved our one-on-one time.

I really felt closer with you when I moved back in with you. I got to surprise you on your birthdays and watch you blow out your candles.

I will never forget you. I love you and I hope you have found peace.

Until we meet again,
Jasmine
