“ I am sad to hear of Connie's passing. I have known Connie since I started working at Walmart in 2004. We worked in department's that were side by side. We would often stop and talk. Connie was very giving. She loved my stories of my Boston Terrier, Casey. It made her laugh. I was saddened when Connie had to quit Walmart. My the family have faith in this difficult time. “ It is with deep sorrow that I write these words now because the world has lost an extraordinary woman.

A legacy is really the lives touched, the inspirations given, and the altering of someone's path - if just for a moment by getting them to love, laugh, or learn.

Moreover, Connie will be remembered for her generosity; the kindness in her heart that she shared with everyone.

Some of my fondest memories of Connie were forged in her kitchen. She was adept in preparing meals out of whatever could be found in the cupboard. She made sure that no child ever went hungry and that every child had a place to stay, if needed - including rebellious teenagers like me.

On one particular occasion, Connie showed all the neighborhood kids her creative culinary skills using nothing but refrigerator biscuits, a can of tomato soup, American cheese, and hot dogs. It may not sound appetizing now, but to all the kids in her yard, it was a scrumptious masterpiece.

I can't help but believe God put Connie on this Earth to care for and bring joy to others.

Though I grew up and moved far away, whenever I went “home” I had to see Connie. While I was growing up, I always considered Connie to be my 2nd mother. It was my honor to have had Connie in my life. She was a blessing in more ways than I can explain.

If not for having been her neighbor, I may never have been graced with her friendship. She was incredibly compassionate and kind; a true treasure to this world.

I pray for comfort only God can give for the family that will always miss a wife, mother, sister, aunt, friend, and caregiver. My heart goes out to the whole family, especially Kim, Eddie, and Billy.

"Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted."
