“ Grandma was always a beauty and one night as she tucked me in I told her I wished I looked more like her and didn't have all my freckles. She smiled and said, " I used to have freckles." Naturally, I asked how she got rid of them. Without missing a step she replied, " I just bathed in the ol' creek a few times; where there is so much opossum pee it will make your freckles fade away." Then she gave me a kiss and left. I laid there for hours planning how long I should bathe in that disgusting creek. Humor was one of her finest attributes.
