“ Hi again Mamaw. Its been a while. I feel like I should explain on the last one since I've realized you're not familiar with the terms I use. The 'break up' was a friendship breakup with someone I never wanted to lose. Ive realized it was for the best though. She 'dumped' me by ghosting me, which means she literally disappeared out of nowhere on me. But I've made better friends since then. you'd like them. I don't have much time because it's late and Im exhausted but I was just busy thinking about you. I miss you.

“ Hey Mamaw, I'm back again. We broke it off completely today. She broke my heart when she told me that I was supposed to ask before I told her the things I would've never told you because your heart wouldn't be able to take them. I told her the things I've barely even said out loud, and she just thinks that I wanted to pressure her to talk to me. I never wanted that. I just wanted to be a normal person. I'm never going to be normal, will I? I'm always going to be stuck in this miserable spiral. I'm always here, Mamaw, waiting for you to come back, for someone, anyone, to say it was a cruel joke on me, that you're not actually gone. I miss you more than words can say. Why can't you just come to see me again? Just one more episode and I'll be ok I promise, I'll make it work. I'll move on and I won't think about you and you won't be in everything I do and every step I take and every breath I breathe. One day, I hope I'll wake up and see you again, and you'll be sitting next to me with your little girl and we can go out to the dining room and sit at the table and eat a bowl of cereal and make all these new memories that I miss more than I miss anything else in the world. God, I wish you never died. I love you forever.

“ I miss you, Mamaw. I keep finding reasons to come back to you because truth is, I haven't felt like myself since you passed. Uncle Daniel and I recently got closer, and he's helped me in ways you used to. I miss you, every day. I do it all for you, just so you know. Every sport I play, every game I play in, everything always comes back to you. I miss you more than anything. I can't keep explaining to people why I'm sad when its always something you can always fix. I wish you would've lived to see me today, I'm in 8th grade now. I'm all grown up. I got dumped last weekend and I looked for you the whole time. I'm always going to miss you. every day, I wish i could come see you, but I'm pushing though it. I'll love you always and ill never watch wheel of fortune ever without hearing your voice. Ill love you forever.

“ I was 56 when I found my birth mother, Patty, it was a mind blowing memory when I got a phone call on Donna's birth and hear on the phone, I think I am your mother, sitting with her in her apartment in New Castle a couple weeks later talking and hearing about how I came to be, her hand touching me the whole time, as she told me she had never gotten to hold me or touch me when I was born. I will remember those time the rest of my life. What a blessing to find her, Love you Mom.
